REFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CITY. THURSDAY MORNING, : : : FEB 1, 1872.

PROGRESS OF THE REFORM MOVE

MENT. There must be some degree of force or revelation of danger to the Grant dynasty in the so-called Possum or Passive policy of the Missouri Demo crats and Republicans. The New York Herald ridicules it, and the Missouri Democrat, day after day, inveighs against it with unparalelled bitterness. This same Reform, Possum, Passive movement pervades Indiana. The Republicans of that State will be convened at an early day. The deliberations of this body will involve the discussion of this Missouri platform. In fact the New York Tribune says that the chief importance of this convention is due to the fact that sweeping changes are to be pressed on the old political machinery, and the Reform element demands thorough work and effective measures against those men in the party who have, by dishonest practices, brought reproach to the Republican organization in the State. A dozen rings are to be broken, and new and pure men brought to the front. which has hitherto contemplated with suspicion, if not with hostility, the scheme of the Passivists—those Democrate that propose to make a choice of evils by supporting a conservative Republican in order to defeat Grant—even the Union and American approves the Liberal movement. It says: "Let the Liberals go on with their organization, hold their national of different kinds, and therefore different kinds and the discondition at the close of the war, would be agreeably surprised by its present well-built, well-paved, and comfortable condition. The city, from its high bluif on the Mississippi, overlooks the low condition. The city, from its high bluif on the Mississippi, overlooks the low condition. The city, from its high bluif on the condition. The city, from its high bluif on the condition. The city, from its high bluif on the condition at the clos says: "Let the Liberals go on with their organization, hold their national convention, nominate their ticket, and go to work to elect it, not by warring on the Democracy, but by attacking the Grant party—its corruptions and usurpations. In this lies their only hope of success." Very certainly there is no hope of success entertained by the Liberals that is not based upon the proposed co-operation of the Democratic party. It is said, of the Democratic party. It is said, on the contrary, that it is wholly insufferable that the Democracy, with all its great power and indestruction. He has another idea, which he ish. He has another idea, which he of the contrary of the c tible resources, should lose its identity, and surrender its claim to a monopoly of the spoils in order to seduce from Grant's supports importance of free trade to the British importance of free trade to the British in the spoils in order to seduce from Grant's supports. half million or more soreheads. It it manufacturer and that the value of any short-qut between Atlants and Decatur to surely a good scheme for the soreheads, and though bad for Democratic
